Career Overview

John is a well-respected practitioner with over 23 years' experience at the Criminal Bar. A superb jury advocate, known for his meticulous preparation.

The latest edition of Legal 500 describes John as "an experienced barrister - persuasive, charming and has a hugely confident courtroom manner. Clients have complete faith in him."

With an impressive track record of winning cases, John is often instructed as leading junior in the most challenging of proceedings. His case record includes complex fraud, murder, rape, drugs, money laundering and organised crime.

John also specialises in cases which involve 'enchro phones' and enchro type material. He was the leading junior counsel in one of the biggest of these cases (R -v- Fizan Khan / Operation Elation). Another recent case was R -v- David Richard which was an extremely far-reaching conspiracy case at the Cardiff Crown Court.

John has a special ability to deal with cases which require a careful eye to detail, and which involve, experts, including forensic accountants, computers, telephones and I.T. In terms of Johns' approach to legal matters, he is a strategist, 'who will always find an angle'. John's quick thinking and natural talent at advocacy make him a lethal cross-examiner who is able to take a witness apart within minutes of them stepping into the witness box.

Recently John has been instructed on large scale cyber crime matters. This includes R v SA & Others - Snaresbrook Crown Court. Johns client faced cyber crime allegations on an enormous scale which involved ATM fraud and Malware - no evidence offered after John identified issues with the prosecution case and drafted an advice on the obtaining of digital forensic expert analysis.

Additionally, R v DC & others - Woodgreen Crown Court. John was Lead counsel for 1st defendant - enormous operation to defraud bookmakers in the UK - in excess of £ 1 million - this became a case of national publicity.

In terms of client care, John is dedicated to the end often spending more time than is even necessary to ensure that 'no stone is left unturned.' He is also extremely good at putting clients at ease and is known for his perseverance and seeing cases through to the end.
